The Family Violence Duty Lawyer Fund 2017-19 will fund Victorian-based community legal centres to deliver additional family violence duty lawyers in the Magistrates' Court.

The Family Violence Duty Lawyer Fund 2017-19 grant provides funding of up to $50,000 per annum per organisation over two years, with total grant funding of $100,000 per organisation available.

Why is the Victorian Government funding this grant?

The 2017-18 Victorian Budget allocated additional funding to ensure that community legal centres can continue to provide legal services and improve access to justice for disadvantage Victorians.

The Victorian Government is providing funding of $2.4 million over two years to community legal centres to deliver additional family violence duty lawyer services in the Magistrates' Court through a new grant round – Family Violence Duty Lawyer Fund 2017-19.

Assessment process

1. Applications are assessed for eligibility.
2. Eligible applications are then assessed for merit against criteria.
3. Recommendations for funding are made to the Attorney-General for approval. The Attorney-General's decision is final.
4. Applicants are advised of outcomes within approximately three months of applications closing.

Grant objective

The objective of the Family Violence Duty Lawyer Fund 2017-19 is to deliver additional family violence duty lawyer services in the Magistrates' Court.

Who can apply?

Assessment criteria

As the grants are competitive, the following criteria will be used to decide which applications should be funded.

- provision of an additional day(s) in court for the family violence duty lawyer service; and
- broad details of receipts and expenditure, and details of governance arrangements.
